THE DISTRACTION OF BUSY ACTIVITY

A close-up photograph of a hand holding a magnet. The hand is positioned in the upper right quadrant, with the thumb and index finger gripping the magnet. The magnet is a small, cylindrical object with a metallic sheen. The background is dark and out of focus, with some green and blue light filtering through, creating a moody atmosphere. The text is overlaid on the lower left and center of the image.

“Having a biblically based purpose is like holding a magnet. It motivates, directs, and pulls you around detours and through distractions.” -Dave Kraft
